Webb

1544-1894

This manuscript, which appears to be an original carbon copy, was written in 1894 by Robert Dickins Webb, MD in Yazoo City, MS and is dated January 22, 1894. When my father passed away in 1983, my mother found this in an old file in the attic and turned it over to me. This work is referenced on page 447 of Volume IV - Genealogies of Virginia Families - Tyler's Quarterly.

While it appears that some pages may be missing, and some are quite wrinkled, and the numbering system utilized by the author is a little misleading... i.e several pages marked "3", this information has been very helpful to me and hopefully will provide clues for others researching the Webb and related families.

THE WEBB FAMILY

THE WEBB FAMILY was originally from Dorset, a shire on the southern coast of Wales. Among the few existing documents connected with the regency of Catherine Parr, while Henry the VIII was conducting the siege of Boulogne, A.D. 1544, there is in the Brotonian collections a letter to her council headed:

"Katherine, Queen Regent K.P. in favor of her trusty and well beloved servant, Henry Webbe, gentleman, usher of her privy chamber". This letter is in regard to some grants and privileges to Henry Webbe, but which had not been fulfilled. It concludes thus: "We most heartily desire and pray you to be favorable to him at this our earnest request. Given under my hand and signet, at my lord, the King's majesty's honor of Hampton Court, the 23d of July and the 36th of his Highness' most noble reign".

Thus we see the Webb family held an honorable position at the time Katherine Parr was Regent of England, as far back as 1544.

"The family coat of arms is a cross guile between four falcons, or crest out of a Ducal Coronet, and a device eagle displayed. The cross shows that our ancestor was a Crusader. The hawks denote swiftness and courage. The Coronet that he was fighting under one of the Confederate Ducal Sovereigns of France, and that he was an officer". The above is from a letter written to me by Hiram Webb, of New Bedford, Mass., about ten years ago. In this letter he states that he had a complete lineage of the family from 1544 to 1730; but I have been unable to get this lineage, as Mr. Hiram Webb is now dead.

Tradition of the family, preserved in a MISS. book owned by the Smith family and held by Mr. Walker of Milton, N.C., written one hundred and twenty-five years ago, which he was kind enough to place at my disposal, says that two of the Webb brothers came to America from Wales about 1640 to 1650. One of these, Christopher, settled at Baintree, Mass., prior to 1645. From him descended the New England or northern branch of the family which is numerous and scattered over many part of the United States. Those in Massachusetts were closely connected by marriage with the family of President Adams. I have no definite account of the line of descent of this northern branch, but I may mention as belonging to it, James Watson Webb, H. Walter Webb, president of the N.Y. Central R.R., Gen. Webb, of the army, Hiram Webb of New Bedford, Mass., Rev. W.S. Webb, president of the College of Clinton, Mass., and Mr. Walter Webb of Galena, Ill., who was the nephew of James Watson Webb.

Another brother, whose name is not certain, (one tradition says it was Micajah, another that it was William) came over about the same time and settled at Smithfield, Isle of Wight County, Va. The Merchant Webb, who came over from Wales to America, and settled in Smithfield, Isle of Wight, Va., is no doubt of the same family as Henry Webb, of Dorset, spoken of by Katherine Parr, as "my well beloved and trusty servant".

One of the sons of the Webb who settled in Smithfield moved to Richmond County, on the Rappahannock river, and from there his descendants went to Richmond City. He was the ancestor of that part of the southern branch of the family which remained in Virginia. Lucy Webb, wife of ex-President R.B. Hayes was of this Virginia branch.

Mr. V. Wrenn, an old citizen of Smithfield, in answer to a letter of inquiry, writes me, under date of Dec. 6th 1893, that "Dr. Jno. R. Purdie, the oldest citizen of Smithfield, remembers well a Mrs Webb, who owned a mill near Smithfield, known as Webb's mill. The mill is still standing." He, (Dr. Purdie) "thinks the family was most numerous in Mansemond County. He recalls with great pleasure Dr. Robert Webb, of Suffolk, county site of Mansemond County. Dr. Webb left a son, Joseph, who died about two years ago. There is a Mr. Samuel Webb at Chockatuck, about ten miles from Smithfield, who came from Prince George County".

There are other Webbs in Kent and Appomattox counties. These are all, no doubt, descendants of the Webb who settled at Smithfield, but I have no detailed family lineage.

Walter W. Webb, son of Walter Webb, the brother of James Watson Webb, lives at Galena, Ill. He married Miss Harriette Sanford. He has a very interesting family, consisting of his wife, Mrs Harriete M. Webb, and three daughters: Harriette, Isabella and Lida Webb, Mrs Webb is a woman of marked character, and a leader of society in Galena.

The young ladies are intelligent and accomplished, and you rarely see three sisters more lovely in person and character. In April 1893, Harriette married Mr. J.W. Crawford, of Chicago, Ill., and they now reside in Chicago.

Since writing the above Miss Lida Webb was married Jan. 8th, 1894, to Mr. Hoyt Shaw.

There are several families of Webbs, who live in Mississippi and Texas who came from Virginia and North Carolina and are no doubt of the same family, though I have no definite line of descent.

Mr. James S. Webb came from Kent County, Va., and settled in Greensboro, Ala., about 1830, where he married Miss Cecile Stollenwerk. He died soon afterwards and left two little girls, Amee and Betty. Amee married Mr. Nugent, a lawyer of Jackson, Miss., and Betty married Mr. Thos. A. McWillie, partner of Mr. Nugent. They live at Jackson, Miss. Mrs James S. Webb lives with her daughter, Mrs Nugent.

Near Sardis, Miss., is another family, Mrs Flaunt, whose grandfather, Maurice Webb, came from Virginia, and settled in Giles County, Tenn., about 1814. Her father William Webb, the youngest of fifteen children was born in 1802 and died 1888. Two of her grandfather's brothers, Thomas and Larkin, moved to Texas about 1837 and all of her brothers live in Texas.

At McComb City, Miss., is still another family, that of Dr. Samson C. Webb. His great grandfather, Ricy Webb, lived in North Carolina, and his grandfather was Jesse Webb, and his father the Rev. Samuel Bozeman Webb, who moved to Georgia, where he was four times married. Dr. Samson Webb was the son of the third wife, Cynthia Yarborough. He married his cousin, the daughter of Britain Ricy Webb, who was Secretary of State of Mississippi under Gov. Pettus, and died in 1861. They moved from Georgia to Alabama in 1858. He has a kinsman, Major G.F. Webb, who lives in Liberty, Miss. The sons of B.R. Webb, A.G. Webb and B.R. Webb Jr., live in Baird, Texas.

These are all doubtless of the original Smithfield stock of Webbs.

The first authentic dates I have, which are taken from the family Bible of James Webb of Essex County, Virginia (this Bible is now in possession of his great grandson, John Webb of Granville County, N.C) show that James Webb of Essex County, Va., was born 1705; married Mary Edmonson in 1734 and died 1771.

In Bishop Mead's "Old churches, ministers and families of Virginia, Vol.1, p.393, the list of vestrymen of South Farnham Parish, Essex County, between 1731 and 1750 contains the names of James Webb, James Edmonson and Henry Young. It will be seen further on, that James Webb married Mary Edmonson 1731, and his son William married Frances Young. From this it is evident they are the same persons referred to as members of the Vestry of South Farnham Parish, Essex Co., Va.

Again Vol 1, p.428, in the list of the "old and leading families of Eastern Virginia, in Colonial times, "the names of "Webb" occurs. Thus it is seen that the Webbs were ranked among the "old and leading families of Virginia" in early Colonial times.

The children of James Webb, and Mary Edmonson were:

William, born Feb 10th 1732. Died March 24th, 1833.

James, born July 2nd 1734.

Mary, born Oct 4th, 1736. Died September 6, 1739.

John, born April 7th, 1739. Died September 20, 1740.

Mary, born October 18th, 1740.

John, born April 2nd 1743. Died August 7th, 1745.

William, born May 1st, 1745.

John, born January 18th, 1747

Thomas, born February 27th, 1751.

Elizabeth, born June 30th 1754

Of these six lived to adult age, the other four died in infancy.

James Webb, the second child of James and Mary Edmonson Webb, was born July 12th, 1734. I have been unable to get a history of his family but it is probable he remained in Virginia, when his brothers and sisters emigrated to Kentucky and North Carolina; and that he is the ancestor of the Virginia Branch of Webbs, quite a number of whom reside in Isle of Wight, Richmond, Kent, Essex, St. George and Kent counties.

MARY WEBB, daughter of James and Mary Edmonson Webb, born October 18th, 1740, married Samuel Smith of North Carolina, May 1761. She moved with her husband to North Carolina and died there November 20th, 1827. She had three sons, Col. Maurice Smith, North Carolina, Col. James Webb Smith of Jackson County, Tenn., and John Smith of North Carolina.

He is a man of good business capacity, great energy, and a leader in every enterprise for the welfare of the community. They have six children: Willey Creagh, Sarah Cheshire, Gertrude DeFord, (dead), Jno. Creagh, Mem Creagh and James Cox. Mrs Sallie C.G. Webb, wife of Jno. Cox Webb, and daughter of Dr. M.W. and Willey H. Creagh.

Miss Willey C. Webb, has just completed her literary course at the Tuscaloosa College of Prof. Alonzo Hill. She is highly accomplished and a leader in the social circle of Demopolis, which consists of a highly cultivated and polite people, many of them being the descendants of the French colony from Bonaparte's army, who settled at Demopolis after Napoleon was dethroned.

Miss Sadie C. Webb, daughter of Jno. Cox Webb, has not yet completed her school curriculum. She is attending the Tuscaloosa College and is a young lady of bright mind, beautiful in person and amiable in character, and will be an ornament to society and an honor to her family. The remaining three children, two boys and a little girl are beautiful and fine looking children.

JAMES WEBB, JR., son of James Webb of Hillsboro, N.C., was born February 2d 1844, and married Rebecca Ruffin. He is a merchant and lives at Hillsboro. They have four children: Mary Ruffin (died 2 years old), James, Brown Ruffin and John Cox.

s account, as stated above, was written in 1888, and only the living descendants counted. Doubtless those who died prior to 1888, and those born since that date would swell the number now (1893) to nearly if not quite 600. I have not been able to get detailed accounts of the children and grand-children of all the families. James Webb Howard, son of Mark Howard and Rachel Webb, lived at or near Utica, Ky. He had ten children and 32 grand and great-grand-children. He was the father of Albert G. Howard, who still lives at or near Utica. Albert married a Blanchard, and had eight children, seven of whom are living; viz: James Lee, Blanchard, Harry Ann, Hettie, Neator Clay, Martha and Alberta Dunn.

Henry H. Howard, son of Mark Howard and Rachel Webb, also lived at or near Utica, Ky. He had in 1888, 43 living descendants. One of these, Melissa P. Howard, still lives at Utica. I have no detailed account of his family.

Dr. James Webb, son of William Webb and Frances Young, was born February 20th., 1814, and died May 1853.

After attending medical lectures at the University of Pennsylvania, he settled in Hillsboro, North Carolina, where he practiced medicine for 50 years with great success. He was a man of noble character; firm, decided and unyielding integrity and honesty of purpose. He was noted in his profession and respected and loved by all who knew him. He married Annie Alves Huske, who was born January 30th., 1785, and died June 23rd., 1852.

They had eight children: Henry, Frances, Helen, Elizabeth, Annie, James, William (died at two years of age), John Huske, Mary, William and Thomas.

Henry Webb, oldest child of Dr. James and Annie Webb, born June 9th 1808, came to Alabama and engaged in farming near Greensboro, where he married Maria Dickson. He soon abandoned farming and returned to North Carolina, and studied medicine with his father. He then returned to Alabama, and practiced medicine for a number of years. He died in Gadsden, Alabama, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Tollman, at the age of 60. His children were Joseph, Annie and Ellen. Joseph was a colonel in the Confederate Army, and now lives in Texas. His daughter, Annie married Judge Tollman of Gadsden, and died in 1891. She had an only daughter, who is dead, but left two little boys. His daughter Ellen is a widow.

Frances Helen Webb, daughter of Dr. James and Annie Webb, was born January 13, 1810, and died in 1888, in Charlotte, North Carolina, at the residence of her son-in-law, Dr. Rufus Barringer. She married Dr. Osmond F. Long, of Randolph county, North Carolina. They had eleven children, six of whom are living; viz: Helen Caldwell, Margaret Taylor, William Strudwick, Annie Sabra, Elizabeth Webb and Thomas Webb.

Margaret Taylor married Gen. Rufus Barringer of Charlotte, North Carolina. They have one child, Osborn Long Barringer.

William Strudwick married Miss Margaret Breckenridge, daughter of Judge Breckenridge, of St. Louis, Mo. and lives in St. Louis.

Annie Sabra, married John B. Smith of Caswell county. They have nine children. James Webb Long, married first Penelope Smith, and second Bettie Mebane, both of Caswell county.

and Thomas Maurice, who was killed at the battle of Gettysburg. James Webb Smith married Polly Downy of North Carolina.

WILLIAM WEBB, son of James and Mary Edmonson Webb, was born May 1st, 1745. He married Frances Young in Essex county, Va., May 1st, 1731, and moved to North Carolina, and settled at Tally-Ho, Granville County, in 1776, where he died April 11th 1809. His wife, Frances Young, died 1810. His old homestead has always remained in possession of the family, and is now owned and occupied by his grandson, John H Webb. Here he engaged in tobacco planting but in the latter part of his life he gave up his planting interest to his sons and devoted himself to benevolent work. He was an elder in the Presbyterian church and gave most of his time to the relief of the poor in two neighboring churches, relieving their wants, giving medical aid and medicines to the sick, and administering spiritual comfort to the doubting. They had nine children, all of whom lived to be married; viz: Rachel, James, William, John, Thomas, Mary, Henry Young, Frances and John.

RACHEL WEBB, the oldest child of William and Frances Webb, was born April 25th 1772. She married Mark Howard and lived in North Carolina, Granville County until they had six children, when they moved to Kentucky. After they moved to Kentucky eight more were born to them making a total of fourteen; eight sons and six daughters. The following account of her family was written by Mr. Hansford, a connection of the family.

"A NUMEROUS FAMILY"

"Mark Howard, the ancestor of this family, was born in North Carolina, where he married Miss Rachel Webb, oldest child of William Webb and Frances Young. While yet young he left North Carolina, to seek a new home in Kentucky. Taking with him his faithful servant Squire, who was a pure African-both his father and mother having been kidnapped in Africa, and brought to North Carolina, they walked the entire way to Kentucky, and after selecting land for a home, they walked back to North Carolina.

"At the time he emigrated to Kentucky they had six children. After they moved to Kentucky eight more were born to them, making a total of fourteen. They settled on Green River, in what was then Ohio county, but afterwards became Daviess county. He was a staunch Baptist and joined the Beaverdam church. All of his children lived to adult age and were married and with a single exception, settled within a radius of five or six miles of Green-briar church, which Mr. Howard joined in 1820. All of them are now dead except Mrs Hannah Johnson, who is 94 or 95 years old, and Samuel and John Howard, living at Sivia, McLean county.

The names of their children were Grover Howard, Fanny, (married Haynes), James Webb Howard, Hannah, (married Johnson), Eliza, (married Owen), Mary, (married Tharp), Susan (married Johnson), Sally, (married Johnson), Allen, William, Samuel, Henry, Thomas, and John. His living grand-children number 75, (Mr. A.G. Howard, a grand-son, says the grand-children in 1893, number 95), and his living descendants number 492. Two of his grandsons left the State many years ago. They were both married and had families but the exact number of their children not being known, they were left out of this count and doubtless they were swell the number of over 500 living descendants.

Of the 492 descendants nearly all of them live in Daviess county, and many of them live near the old homestead. One hundred and eighty of them belonged to the Baptist church. His sons and sons-in-law were all farmers and owned the land they lived on, aggregating several thousand acres. None of his children died under forty years of age except one. They were all honest, upright, sincere men, noted for morality, temperance and good characters. Of the 492 descendants, Mrs Eliza Owen was the ancestor of 101, Allen Howard 59, Mrs Fanny Haynes 50, Mrs Polly Tharp 51, Henry Howard 43, and James Webb Howard 42.

Elizabeth Strudwick married, October 29th, 1874, Charles S. Porcher. They have four children: Mary Long, Maria Ravenel, Lillian Lindley and Cecile Stewart. They all live in Minneapolis.

DR. WILLIAM WEBB, son of Dr. James Webb and Annie Webb, was born September 6th, 1825. He is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and has practiced his profession successfully in St. Louis, Mo., since 1849. He is remarkable for his temperate habits, having never taken, as a beverage, a drink of spirituous liquor, taken a chew of tobacco, or smoked a cigar. To this is due in a great degree, no doubt, his unusual good health. He is now 68 years old, and has never been confined a day to his bed by sickness and is as buoyant and youthful as a man of 30 years. He is an elder in the Grand Avenue Presbyterian church, and takes great interest in the affairs of his church; and is an humble and devoted christian. He married Miss Mary Castleman of Kentucky. They have one son and four daughters; David Castleman, a lawyer in St. Louis, Annie Huske, Mary C., Virginia Breckenridge and Willie. Virginia married Mr. Arthur W. Lambert, chemist to the Listerine Co. They have two boys, Arthur and William. Annie, Mary and Willie are single.

They settled at Greensboro, Ala., where Mr. Dickens spent a busy and useful life till 1840, engaged in merchandizing and steam mill business and manufacturing gins. His mercantile business failed during the financial crash of 1836-7, and his mill and gin factory were burned. He then moved into Perry county, to a pine forest, and by the assistance of his friends erected a lumber mill. This mill was also consumed by fire. He at once rebuilt the lumber mill, and timber becoming scarce he attached to it a department for the manufacture of castor oil. This was also destroyed by fire. He then removed to Demopolis and put up another lumber mill. This proved to be an unsuccessful enterprise, and he moved the frame, which was of cedar, to Washington county, where he put up a fine building on the Mobile river. This building was also consumed by fire just as it was completed. The fire was on Saturday night and Monday next he commenced getting the timbers for another mill. This time he was more successful and was rewarded for his unconquerable energy and perseverance, in soon building up a successful lumber business. But his unabated labors and misfortunes had so undetermined his constitution that he lived only a short time, and died on April 14th, 1863, of disease of the bowels. His wife, Martha Y. Dickens (nee Webb) "was a woman of rare energy and decision of character. Erect in person and character, abounding in christian graces, she lived above the storms and worries of life, and ever cheerfully sustained her husband in all his reverses". He is indeed a true benefactor, causing two blades of grass to grow where formerly there was but one.

I have thus with great care and I believe, reasonable accuracy, traced the tradition and family records for over 250 years, from 1544, when Catherine Parr, was Regent of England, while Henry the VIII. conducted the siege of Bologne; and given reliable data from 1705, taken from the Family Bible of James Webb, of Essex county, Va., and now in possession of Mr. Jno. H. Webb of Tally-Ho, Granville county, N.C., and from the tomb stones in the old grave yard near Oaks, Orange county, where many of the older ones of the family are buried. In this long and numerous line of ancestry I have found no one who has disgraced the high stand they have maintained in every community in which they have lived. I have not found one who has been convicted of any crime involving moral turpitude. They have, one and all, been men of good characters; honest, upright, sincere and of undoubted integrity, and while they have not been seekers after office or position, their strong independent minds have made them leaders of thought and action on all important questions involving the interests of the communities in which they have lived. As women they have been gentle, kind and self-sacrificing. As wives and sisters loving and lovely and ever looking well to the interests and happiness of their households.

 An old MS., written over one hundred years ago, in the possession of Mr. R.L. Walker, Milton, N.C., says that Elizabeth Webb married Phillip Voss. If this is correct, she was a widow when she married Thos. Shapard, of North Carolina.

My father spent much of the last months of his life writing this family record. He finished it just one month before he entered into a better world, Feb. 23d, 1894. It was a labor of love, and he hoped to give pleasure to many by his work, which helped him to pass many weary, painful hours.

BETTY WEBB WILLIAMS.
